PUERTO RICAN INNOCENT OF MURDER COUNT

The jury returned at 11:16 this morning and handed up three verdicts.

Its findings were: On murder, innocent; on involuntary manslaughter, innocent; on carrying and discharging firearms, guilty.

The case of Ramon Martinez, accused of murder, was given to an Adams County jury for its decision this morning.

Martinez, a 27-year-old Puerto Rican engaged in the sale of clothing to his fellow Puerto Ricans at labor camps throughout the area, is accused of fatally shooting Martin Sieres, 23, of Puerto Rico, at a labor camp near Bendersville last November 3.

All of the testimony in the case had been presented and the attorneys had given their arguments when the court adjourned at about 5:40 Friday evening. This morning at 8:30 o'clock Judge W. C. Sheely made the charge to the jury and it retired to begin deliberations.

ADMISS ONE CHARGE

District Atty. Daniel E. Teeter told the jury Friday afternoon that the facts in the case, in his opinion, warranted a verdict of second degree murder or, at the least, voluntary manslaughter.

Martinez in addition to being charged with murder, which covers voluntary manslaughter, second degree murder and first degree murder as three degrees of the same charge, is also charged with involuntary manslaughter, pointing and discharging a deadly weapon and violation of the uniform firearms law.

The defendant has admitted the latter charge, testifying he had no permit for the pistol he was carrying and which fired the two shots which killed Sieres within minutes, according to the testimony.

One shot entered the abdomen piercing the intestine and going through a large artery, which caused bleeding which was the probable main cause of death. The other shot passed through the flesh of an arm, entered the chest, just missed the heart, and plowed on through the chest, eventually coming out Sieres' back.

Dr. Gerald Doo, in testimony given Friday afternoon, said Sieres probably felt little pain, since the shock would have numbing effect and death would have occurred most likely before he felt any pain.

Sieres had a knife in his hand when police arrived at the scene. Dr. Doo said a man shot would probably hold on to a knife when falling across a bed to the floor. In falling, the knife cut a Puerto Rican laborer lying on a bunk near where Sieres fell.

IMPORTANCE OF JURY DUTY CITED BY JUDGE

"Jury duty is one of the most important duties of a citizen," Judge W. C. Sheely told a group of Littlestown High School students during a recess of court Friday afternoon.

The Littlestown students were one group of a number from county high schools taking part this week in the annual program of the County Bar Association and the schools of having the students visit the courthouse during terms of court.

The students first are given an outline of county government by one of the attorneys, then visit the courthouse offices where the duties of the offices are explained to them by county officials. They then go to the court room to watch a portion of a trial. During recess, the judge speaks to the groups about the manner in which court trials are held.

SO TERRIBLY IMPORTANT

"Jury duty is a sacrifice," Judge Sheely said, "but the jurors are glad to make the sacrifice because the jury trial system is so terribly important to our way of government."

"One of the things which makes our country great is the fact that, no matter who a person is, his rights are defended and he has a right to a trial by jury."

"Every person has a right to select his own attorney, to question the witnesses against him, to present his own witnesses and have a jury of his peers render a decision. Through the centuries we have found that this system works best, to have 12 persons who have no connection whatsoever in the case, listen to the evidence and then decide the facts. These rights are guaranteed every citizen and are carefully safeguarded. If a person is too poor to select his own attorney the court must provide him with an attorney, so that he may lose none of his rights."

The court noted that in the protection of the citizen, "when he does not speak English, an interpreter is provided. As you have witnessed today, the court has provided Mrs. William Coradetti to do the translating. She is a native of Puerto Rico and speaks Spanish well, as you have noted. If you are taking Spanish at school you would have learned much today. She is doing a magnificent job."

Students From Many Lands Flee Red Hungary; Charge "Racial Discrimination"

By HANS BENEDICT
VIENNA, Austria (AP) — A group of Ethiopian students has quit Communist Bulgaria on the heels of 20 Ghanaians who left the Communist country charging racial discrimination.

Hundreds more African students were reported waiting for funds or transportation to enable them to get out.

Six Ethiopia students arrived in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Friday night and reported to their embassy there. The Ghanaians flew to Amsterdam earlier Friday.

The Ethiopian ambassador in Belgrade, Petras Sahlon, said the whereabouts of another Ethiopian student was unknown since he and six other students were arrested by Bulgarian police Monday as leaders of the banned All-African Students' Union.

Police and militia beat some students when they staged a parade Tuesday protesting the arrests.

MRS. TOOMEY RETIRES FROM HOTEL POST

Mrs. Margaret Toomey, housekeeper at the Hotel Gettysburg since 1930, retired Friday with happy memories of more than a score of famous people who were guests at the hotel over the past 33 years.

Her favorites were General and Mrs. Eisenhower.

"He was wonderful and Mamie was sweet," she says.

She remembers the numerous times the President spoke to her as he passed through the halls during the 10-day "working vacation" when he had his offices in the hotel. She remembers, too, the exhausting experience of providing 200 single beds for reporters from all over the world who covered the Khrushchev-Eisenhower conference at Camp David in 1960.

TEARFUL PARTING

The parting from fellow-employees Friday was tearful. But Mrs. Toomey assured the staff that she is planning to rest up, visit friends and relatives and "take it easy." She suggested that they "come to see me after lunch," since she plans, among other things, to sleep late every day.

Mrs. Toomey recalls that hers was only a relief job when she agreed to work for her sister February 18, 1930. She also recalls that she baked a birthday cake after she finished the day's maid chores. The relief job became fulltime within a few months, and shortly thereafter she was promoted to housekeeper.

"I came to work when Mrs. Henry Scharf Sr. was still here, and when Henry was married and when Elise was born. I helped to (Continued On Page 2)

NEW PRINTS ARE EXHIBITED AT COLLEGE

An exhibition of serigraph prints circulated by the Western Serigraph Institute is being shown in the Christ Chapel gallery at Gettysburg College. The display of 40 works will continue through March 7.

Serigraphy is a medium which uses silk stretched on a rigid frame as the means of transferring ink to paper. They are original works of art and are in the same classification as etchings, lithographs, wood blocks, engravings or any of the other graphic arts media.

To make a print, ink is squeezed through the areas in the silk which have been left uncovered as a part of the design. Serigraph prints are usually comprised of a number of colors, each requiring a separate printing. A finished print may entail as many as a dozen individual printings in order to achieve its multiplicity of colors and subtlety of tone and shade.

The prints are available at prices ranging from $15 to $75.

2 Friday Crashes Checked By Police

Damage totaled $310 in an auto accident Friday a mile north of here on the Biglerville Rd., and a Chambersburg man was injured in another accident near Zora.

State police said the Biglerville Rd. crash occurred at 6:40 o'clock Friday evening when a car operated by Clyde H. Baker, 39, Bendersville, stopped for traffic ahead. Another car, operated by Jean L. Bolen, 21, was unable to stop quickly enough and struck the rear of the Baker auto. Police estimated damage at $250 to the Bolen car and $60 to Baker's 1955 vehicle.

Earlier Friday afternoon police were called to an accident southwest of Fairfield on the Zora Rd. in which a car reported driven by Edward Stinson, Chambersburg, struck guard posts. Stinson was removed by the Gettysburg ambulance to the Warner Hospital here for treatment to injuries received in the accident. Police are continuing their investigation.

Service Station Here Burglarized

Burglars stole three tires from the Esso Service Station at 237 Buford Ave., owned by Charles Richard Mellott, Friday night.

Borough police discovered the burglary when they noted a broken window into a washroom as they made a regular patrol along Buford Ave. about 2:30 this morning.

Police found glass lying about and notified Mellott that there was a possibility someone had broken into the establishment. Mellott and police then checked the premises and discovered three tires, valued at about $55, had been removed.

Police believe the burglar or burglars, after making entrance by breaking the window, used the front door to leave with the tires.

"MUSTER DAY" PROGRAM HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Adams Counties will have an opportunity to check the coffee and cake making abilities of their National Guard until Monday evening at the "Muster Day" program to be held by the Guard on Lincoln Square.

The approximately 80 members of the local Howitzer battery of the National Guard will move into Lincoln Square at 7:15 Monday evening, with the men in uniforms reminiscent of the colonial days of the county.

The mess truck of the Guardsmen will accompany the group and during a band concert from 7:15 to 7:30 the Guardsmen will serve hot coffee and cake from the mess truck.

LIKE OLD "MUSTER DAY"

At 7:30 a program will be held similar to the "musters" held here for many years from colonial days to about the Civil War period. As the men form on the square, a drum roll will precede the call to muster by First Sergeant James Noel. The battery commander, Capt. Donald E. Doersom, and Sgt. Noel will then inspect the ranks.

At 8 o'clock the battalion commander will present a report to Gettysburg Mayor William G. Weaver on the training of the Guard during the last year and their readiness for duty.

Following the report there will be another roll of the drums and the firing of a salute after which the battery commander will make a presentation to The Gettysburg Times and WGCT.

The battery will then march around the square and west on Chambersburg St., in concluding the program.

The event is similar to ones behind held by Guard units throughout the U.S. to honor the militiamen of the early U.S.

Hijacked Freighter Found By Navy Plane Early Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy search plane found the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui early today about 180 miles north of Surinam, Dutch Guiana, the Defense Department announced.

The Navy plane, a P2V, based at Jacksonville, Fla., radioed it was circling the ship and could read her name on the fantail.

The plane was attempting to make contact with the ship by blinker and radio at the time it was reported to the department. At the time of the sighting, the vessel was reported traveling in a south-southeasterly direction, on a course of 150 degrees, at a speed of 12 knots.

SEARCH BY REQUEST

The Navy had joined in the search for the vessel, taken over by a group of Communists Tuesday, at the request of the Venezuelan government.

There had been strong speculation that the hijackers would take the ship to Cuba, which publicly offered them asylum Friday.

Asks New Trial For Lee G. Wills

A motion for a new trial in case of Lee Gordon Wills, Greenstone, was presented to the Adams County court Friday afternoon.

Wills was found guilty by a jury earlier this week on charges of pointing and discharging a deadly weapon and aggravated assault and battery in connection with the shooting of a fellow Greenstone resident, Harold "Bubby" Sanders, last November.

Atty. H. Thomas Pyle, in presenting the request for a new trial, argued that the verdict was "contrary to the evidence; contrary to the weight of the evidence; against the law, and against the charge of the court."

In his petition Atty. Pyle also asked "the right to file additional reasons for a new trial when the notes of testimony taken at the trial have been transcribed."

JUDGE SHEELY WILL RECEIVE ALUMNI AWARD

The first annual alumni award of the Dickinson School of Law General Alumni Association will be conferred upon Judge W. C. Sheely, president judge of the courts of Adams and Fulton Counties, at the annual alumni dinner to be held Friday, May 31, at the Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg.

State Senator Thomas A. Ehrgood, of Lebanon, president of the alumni association, said the award is conferred upon an alumnus "for outstanding services rendered to the Dickinson School of Law and for professional and civic activities which have brought honor to the school."

Senator Ehrgood also pointed out that "Judge Sheely was president of the Dickinson School of Law from 1939 to 1959 and it was as the result of efforts initiated by Judge Sheely that the law school now has an effective alumni organization."

Judge Sheely, a native of Gettysburg, was graduated from Gettysburg College in 1923 with a B.S. degree and in 1929 he received a law degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

The court wanted to know why Monn and the girl went to Maryland when they had a petition before the county court to permit their marriage. —that it had not reached Cuba and had little chance of getting there.

The 3,000-ton Venezuelan ship was presumed to be traveling at about 15 miles an hour. But since the Navy doesn't know whether it is moving east, west or some other direction, each hour extends the search's radius.

As of Friday evening, the Pentagon said more than 750,000 square miles of sea had been scanned, both visually and by radar.

In the first 30 hours, a spokesman said, more than 400 merchant ships displacing 1,000 tons or more, and hundreds of smaller craft, had been sighted and identified.

"We have thoroughly searched by radar and eyeball, the Caribbean Sea area bounded by the Greater Antilles, the northern coast of South America, and the Lesser Antilles," the spokesman said.

"We are now widening our area of search."

NAVY IN SEARCH

When the Navy moved into action Thursday, it was estimated the freighter stood at a point about midway between the Venezuelan coast and the island of Santo Domingo.

Officials, tight-lipped about the search until Friday evening, disclosed that Navy patrol planes and surface ships, including carriers and destroyers, moved quickly to block passage leading to Cuban ports.

Although officials declined to discuss the size of the search force it was understood more than a dozen radar-equipped patrol planes were on the mission out of Roosevelt Roads in Puerto Rico. Surface ships probably came from the Guantanamo Naval Base in eastern Cuba, among other places.

There was no clear indication what would happen when the Navy finally spots the Anzoategui. That will be up to the Venezuelan government.

But it's likely the Navy would only flash the news, then keep watch until a Venezuelan destroyer can come up to intercept the freighter.

raise Elise," she says proudly.

HUSBAND EXPIRED

Her husband, Francis, a foreman at the Gettysburg Furniture Factory, died 15 years ago and two years later Mrs. Toomey and her daughter, Mary, moved into an apartment in the Hotel Annex, where she will continue to live. Her daughters, Mary and Mrs. Josephine Steinger, operate the Mary-Jo Beauty Salon on York St. A son, Robert, is a mechanic and lives at Gettysburg R. 6.

As head housekeeper, Mrs. Toomey was responsible for keeping the hotel in tip-top condition, from mending the linens to supervising the maintenance of four floors. At the peak of the season she directed as many as eight maids in the care of rooms.

FAMOUS GUESTS

Among the many famous personages who have stayed at the hotel in the past 33 years, Mrs. Toomey remembers M. A. d. a. e. Cassini, mother of Oleg and Igor Cassini, who spent several months in Gettysburg during the second World War while her sons were stationed here. She recalls that Mrs. Cassini was accompanied by her dog, "Cigarette," which caused no little confusion as she frequently went through the lobby calling him by name.

She also remembers many of the foreign intelligence officers stationed at Camp Sharpe during the same period, many of whom stayed at the hotel and entertained their families there.

WRITES POETRY

Among other things, Mrs. Toomey undoubtedly will write poetry during her retirement. She has written many verses during her lifetime "to put in the box," as she says.

In the presence of contemporary employees, front office manager Hugh Craig, bell captain-emeritus Robert Roberts, chef Allen Sprinkle and bell captain Lawrence Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Scharf presented a cameo brochure to Mrs. Toomey in appreciation of her 33 years as "housemother." Service to the hotel of the assembled group aggregated 231 years.

OLD SOLDIER WITHOUT HOME DIES FRIDAY

ROME, Ga. (AP) — Wilmer A. Summerville, an old soldier who lived in jail because he had nowhere else to go, is dead.

Summerville, 73, blind World War I veteran, died Friday at a private nursing home of a heart ailment. But he died knowing that someone cared.

The veteran spent 46 days in the Floyd County Jail because he had been refused admittance to government hospitals and could not afford private care. Sheriff Joe Adams came to Summerville's aid Dec. 20 and gave him a place to stay in the jail while the sheriff tried to arrange for his care.

WENT TO HOME

He remained in jail until last week when Mrs. Christine Perry, operator of a nursing home at nearby Cedartown, read of his plight and offered to care for him free of charge.

Then he became ill. Doctors said he had suffered a heart attack Thursday. He died Friday with a smile on his lips.

"At the end I know he was happy," said Mrs. Perry. "He knew that somebody cared after all."

Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. today, with burial in the family cemetery near here.

The sheriff said Summerville had been refused admittance to Veterans' Administration homes because the VA requires that a veteran inmate be able to care for himself to some degree. Since Summerville was blind and helpless, he could not qualify.

MURDER CASE

Martinez alleged that he fired a warning shot to halt Siarens as he advanced toward Martinez with a knife in his hand. Attorney Gerald Walmer, for the defense, argued that the warning shot hit the concrete floor and bounced across the room, cutting Lopez across the foot. District Attorney Teeter argued that, since only two cartridge cases were found in the room, only two shots were fired and that one of the bullets, passing through Siarens, struck Lopez.

The pistol that fired the shot has never been found. Martinez testified that he was greatly frightened as he fled the Bendersville labor camp and doesn't know whether he left the pistol there or threw it away later.

FLED TO FLORIDA

Martinez testified Friday that he came into the dormitory room at the Breezewood labor camp and found Siarens arguing with another Puerto Rican laborer. Martinez said he asked them to quit fighting and be friends. Siarens told Martinez that it was "none of your business." Martinez turned away and heard someone yell, "Watch out for your back."

He turned and found Siarens coming at him with a knife. Siarens told Martinez, "Either I'll kill you or you'll kill me." Martinez said he fired a shot toward the floor to halt Siarens, but he kept on coming. Martinez then fired two shots "I thought toward his legs," and left the room.

Martinez said he was frightened and felt the was in trouble and drove until he reached Florida. At that time, he said, he did not know whether his shots had hit Siarens or not. He said when he heard later that Siarens had been killed he gave himself up to Florida police.

A number of Puerto Ricans gave testimony substantiating Martinez' story. District Attorney Teeter held that if the men had seen what they said they saw they would have notified police on the night of the shooting when the officers were at the camp seeking information. Attorney Walmer argued to the jury that police had been through the camp just a few days before seeking information on another matter and that the Puerto Ricans laborers might have been reluctant to become involved by volunteering information.

GIRARDVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Funeral services will be held Tuesday for Dr. Joseph T. Dougherty, 58, a physician and president of the Union National Bank of Girardville. He died Friday of a heart attack.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Archbishop John J. Krol of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Philadelphia says the first diocesan synod since 1934 will be called as soon as preparations are completed. No date was set. The meeting of the clergy would consider application of church law to changing conditions in the diocese.

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP) — A desperate freedom bid by three young East Germans failed today when the car they tried to crash drive into West German was shot by Communist border guards and burst into flames.

The three men, one apparently wounded, were dragged out of the blazing car and taken away by East German guards.

"POWER AND GLORY"

He is the Master of mankind... King of heaven and earth... we are His little children... before and after birth... He is the truth we are seeking... all things are in His hands... we will find joy if we follow... all of His righteous commands... He is the sure path to heaven... there is no other way... all those who disregard Him... in flames of Hell will pay... He is the Friend to depend on... when mortals turn from our pleas... so it is we should adore Him... always, on bended knees... He is the power and glory... He is the reason and why... we all depend upon Him... now and long after we die.

Abe Lincoln Memorialized Many Times On Postage Stamps

On the 99th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, Postmaster General J. Edward Day participated in a ceremony last November 19 at Springfield, Ill., that dedicated two new Lincoln postal items—a five-cent embossed envelope and a four-cent precanceled postal card.

It marked the 24th time that Abraham Lincoln has been memorialized on United States postal stamps or cards. Lincoln, whose first public job was as a $55 per year postmaster, shares with George Washington the distinction of appearing on the most stamp issues.

Additionally 12 foreign countries have together issued some 50 stamps honoring Lincoln. They are Monaco, San Marino, Indonesia, Ghana, Honduras, Haiti, the Republic of China, Nicaragua, Argentina, Columbia, Liberia and Cuba.

The new Lincoln postal items were issued to meet postal rate increases, effective last month. Even under higher rates, mail users still get an "outstanding bargain." Postmaster General Day said, "Our first United States postage stamp, issued in 1847, was a five-cent stamp. It would take a letter no more than 300 miles. Our new nickel stamp and our four-cent postal card can go from one end of the country to the other."

"The maximum distance a four-cent postal card can travel is nearly three times that far. If you take a vacation in the Virgin Islands and happen to know someone in Pago Pago in American Samoa you can send a card there—a distance of 9,000 miles—for four cents."

HARRIMAN TO GET NEW POST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State W. Averell Harriman is expected to get a new top-level job at the State Department under shakeup plans now being considered by President Kennedy.

Harriman, a former ambassador to Russia and Britain, would take over the No. 3 spot at State—undersecretary for political affairs. This post is now held by George C. McGhee, who has asked Kennedy for a foreign assignment and is expected to get one.

There have been persistent reports in the past several weeks that the President is dissatisfied with the operation of the department. Replacement of McGhee by Harriman may be the first of a number of changes.

Kennedy, it is understood, would like to tighten up the department's operations to get faster results on foreign affairs issues as they arise. One move under study is the possible creation of a new undersecretary position to expedite work within the department.

Students

A group of students from Nigeria, apparently lacking funds, sought the help of the British Legation in Sofia to get flight tickets.

Also ready to go were students from Guinea, Mali, Togo, Kenya and other countries, a Ghanaian Embassy spokesman in Sofia reported.

He said the Guineans and Malinese planned to leave via Prague where they have diplomatic missions.

PLAN IOOF SESSION

Kenneth W. Olinger, Littlestown, deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, IOOF, is a member of a committee arranging a four-county rally of A's, Franklin, Fulton and Perry Counties lodges to be held March 16 at the Fannett-Metal High School, near the Willow Hill interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike. John George, St. Thomas, is general chairman.

Five Runners-Up In The Gettysburg Commemorative Postage Stamp Contest

Many Experts Work Weeks On Postage Stamp

From the moment a new postage stamp is conceived until it rolls off the press some six or seven months later, a team of highly-skilled craftsmen and technicians working together in the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing, in Washington, D.C., combine to produce one of the world's best examples of the graphic arts process.

Stamps of many other nations are produced by lithography, but in the United States the waning art of hand engraving is employed—as a protection against counterfeiting.

After a stamp design has been approved by Postmaster J. Edward Day, an engraver painstakingly transfers the design to soft steel. Only a handful of engravers possess this skill. It is a slow process. Engraver R. M. Bower required about 50 hours to etch the wreath and candles on the recent Christmas postage stamp, and this was of relatively simple design.

HARDENED BY HEAT

Upon completion of the engraving, this "master" is hardened by heat and chemical treatment and in turn transferred by pressure to a sheet of soft steel, which, after hardening, is the plate from which a stamp sheet is printed. The design is forced into the sheet under pressure of 15 tons to the square inch. One speck of dust coming between the master and the plate can mar the entire impression. Sometimes this can be burnished away. In other cases, the plate must be redone.

The Battle of Gettysburg commemorative stamp—third in the five-stamp Civil War Centennial series—is planned for multi-color reproduction. Two earlier stamps, Fort Sumter, issued April 12, 1961, and Shiloh, issued April 6, 1962, were one-color stamps.

2 MORE TO COME

The Post Office Department will round out the five-year national observance of the centennial by issuing next May 5 a commemorative postage stamp for the Battle of the Wilderness, and on April 1, 1965, an Appomattox stamp.

The Battle of Gettysburg stamp will come off the Giori presses in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, with a probable initial printing of 120 million five-cent stamps. This press makes possible relatively new techniques in color printing. Before the Giori was engineered, multicolor stamps required a separate plate and an additional run through the press for each color applied. On such small items as a postage stamp, this often led to poor registration of colors—overlaps or gaps such as sometimes are seen in the color comic pages of newspapers.

COLORS ARE SHADED

The Giori permits simultaneous application of two colors from a single plate and by highly ingenious techniques permits shading of these colors into various tones. This was effectively done in Winslow Homer's "Breezing Up," the fine arts stamp issued in December and widely regarded as the most beautiful stamp ever produced in the United States.

The horizontal or "special delivery" size stamp is printed in sheets of four hundred stamps, which later are broken into panes of 50 stamps for post office sale. Plate numbers appear on the four corners of the sheet. As plates begin to show wear they are replaced in efforts to control the quality of printing. Usually four plates are made for each commemorative stamp. The Giori press is sheet fed, the Cottrell press, used in one color production, produces stamps from rolls of paper.

Production of new commemorative stamps is limited by postal policy to 15 per year.

PARIS (AP) — Touse-haired singer Paul Anka and cover girl Anne de Zogheb were married today in the state town hall of Paris' swank 16th District.

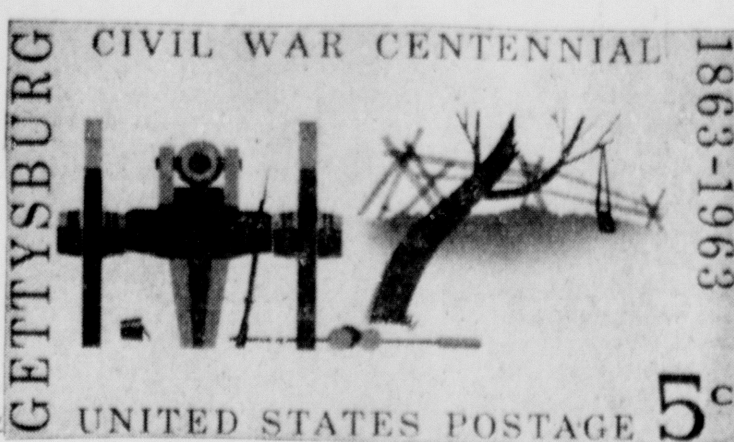

The ceremony was quiet, but the occasion was livened up by about 100 photographers who swarmed into the hall after the ceremony ended.

The 22-year-old singer from Ottawa, Canada, and his 20-year-old Egyptian-born bride were then ushered out of the hall and driven to Orly Airport. They are flying to the Swiss ski resort of Saint Moritz for their honeymoon.

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—Security police have raided Salisbury headquarters of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

A police spokesman said the raid was part of an investigation into the "Zimbabwe Liberation Army," a parliamentary African nationalist movement and its leader, "Gen. Chedu."

Police seized documents and an office machine alleged to have been used to print Chedu's statements. Police questioned African employees of the Bible society and a white clergyman who denied any knowledge of the liberation Army's pamphlets.

ALLEN-ROSSI COMEDY TEAM COMES UP FAST

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The short, stocky man with shock of black hair and the tall, handsome young fellow walked into the sleek, chic, expensive restaurant.

"Hello dere," exclaimed the maitre d'hotel, his face breaking into a broad grin.

"Hello dere," replied the short man.

They moved on to the captain. "Hello dere," he said, grinning, escorting them to a table.

There followed "Hello dere" from the busboy as he filled the glasses, the waiter as he presented the menus, from men and women patrons as they passed by the table. Marty Allen, the one with the hair, and Steve Rossi, the tall one, took turns answering—pleasantly, but, as the continued rain of greetings tended to interrupt the conversation, a little perfunctorily.

"Doesn't this sort of thing get to be a bit of a bore?" asked the reporter, wearied from picking up dropped threats of thought.

"Not really," replied Allen.

"We'll start worrying when they stop saying it."

COMEDY TEAM

Allen and Rossi—the former a clown given to crazy clothes, kooky gestures and unexpectedly penetrating remarks on topical subjects and the latter a young singer with a fine voice and an adroit way of feeding a straight line—are a comedy team on the way up. They struck the public's fancy as semiregulars on CBS' "Garry Moore Show."

Now Allen's salutation, "Hello dere," has become as popular as Joe Penner's old "Wanta buy a duck?" that swept the country in the golden days of radio.

"It happened by accident," related Allen. "We were playing a date in Philadelphia. I walked out on stage for Steve's introduction, and suddenly I couldn't remember my line. I fumbled around for it and it didn't come, so I just said 'Hello dere.' The audience fell apart."

"We were pretty surprised at the reaction, and we talked about it after the show," put in Rossi. "So we tried it again the next show—and it happened again. Then it went into the act."

PITTSBURGH LAD

Allen, 38, is a Pittsburgh boy who started playing small nightclubs while studying journalism at the University of Southern California.

He gave up his newspapering ambitions to become a full-time performer but didn't really strike it right or rich until singer Nat King Cole, an Allen fan, suggested he team up with a young baritone who had impressed him as a production singer in a Las Vegas nightclub. They met, liked each other and became a team in 1959.

Television dates followed—Perry Como, Ed Sullivan, Jack Paar, and, most important, Garry Moore. Carol Burnett liked their work and asked them to join her fabulously successful summer tour.

Rossi, 30, is a New Yorker who grew up in Southern California. He has a trained voice, and started in show business as a kid in the Mitchell Boys Choir. He had done some television work, played "Talent Scouts" show and played many nightclubs.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

FAMILY OF FIVE PERISH IN FIRE

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Three children and their parents were killed today in a fire which destroyed their home in suburban Steel City, about three miles east of here.

Authorities identified the victims as Charles Fackelman, 61, his wife, about 35, and their children, Edward, 13, Gwendolyn, 4, and Kathy, 3.

The fire broke out shortly after 6 a.m.

Fackelman was employed by the Bethlehem Steel Co.

Mrs. Fackelman was expecting another child.

Neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Klutz, said they heard what sounded like an explosion and when they looked toward the Fackelman home, it was a mass of flames. They said there was no chance to save the Fackelmans.

Four fire companies fought the blaze. There were no fire hydrants and the firemen had to bring water to fight the fire.

The Fackelmans lived in a wooded area.

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP)—The biggest crowd ever seen in Christchurch lined the eight mile royal drive to the city today to welcome Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh on the last leg of their tour of New Zealand.

A childrens choir of 2,800 voices and twenty thousand other children massed in Lancaster Park for the welcome, in hot, sunny weather.

TEN YEARS AGO

Couple Is Wed In Lancaster:
Miss Doris Lou Coshun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Coshun, 25 Barlow St., became the bride of Charles T. Coffelt, son of Rev. and Mrs. Charles M. Coffelt, Gettysburg R. 2, Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in a double-ring ceremony in Trinity Lutheran Church, Lancaster, with the Rev. Wallace E. Fisher, pastor, as the officiating clergyman. Rev. Mr. Fisher is the former pastor of Christ Lutheran Church.

The couple will reside in their newly furnished apartment at 117 Chambersburg St. Mrs. Coffelt, who was graduated from the Gettysburg High School with the class of 1949, is employed by the Inductive Equipment Corporation. Her husband, who was graduated from the local high school in 1941, operates a dairy farm in partnership with his father and brother.

Miss Dellinger and James C. Hoak Wed: Miss Vivian Anita Dellinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Dellinger, Gettysburg R. 4, became the bride of James Cletus Hoak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer F. Hoak, Gettysburg R. 2, in a double ring ceremony Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Grace Lutheran Church, Westminster, Md. The Rev. E. S. Falkenstein officiated. Both the bride and groom were graduated from the Gettysburg High School last June. Mrs. Hoak was graduated from the Kenedelle School of Cosmetology in Harrisburg last week. Her husband is employed by the Gettysburg Construction Company.Light "Bumps" Watchman Off N. Stratton St.: Clement Aughinbaugh, Gettysburg R. D., Monday evening at 5:45 o'clock "finished the job my father started more than a half century ago."

Aughinbaugh, watchman at the N. Stratton St. crossing for the last 21 years, was replaced by the automatic blinker light which went into operation at the crossing at 1 p.m. Monday. He finished out the day, however, as a caddy against the light, and then began a vacation before starting out once again as railroad worker in another locality.

The 58-year-old watchman carefully closed and locked the door of the small frame "watch-box" that had been his home from 7:30 a.m. to 5:45 p.m. each day for more than a decade. In due course a Western Maryland wrecker train, while passing through here, will pick up the watch-box, place it on a car and haul it away to join other no longer used watchmen's structures.

The watchman said his father, John R. Aughinbaugh, was the first watchman at the Stratton St. crossing. At the time his father began his work, he received 10 cents an hour for a nine hour day.

Ike Sells His Dairy Herd Here: President Eisenhower, for the time being at least, has given up dairying on his 180-acre Adams County farm adjoining the Gettysburg battlefield.

What he intends to do in place of dairying is apparently not known at the present time to even the President himself.

There is a possibility that beef cattle may replace the herd of 35 dairy cattle on the farm, but there are none there yet. Farm employees today were busy cleaning the big barn which formerly housed the dairy herd.

The dairy cattle, 18 Holsteins and 17 Guernseys, were sold to S. S. McNair, who re-sold most of the Holsteins to Paul E. Dick, who owns a farm six miles north of Carlisle. The registered Guernseys were sold to the Loumont Farms, Wrightsville.

The cattle were sold by Irving Feister, resident manager of the Eisenhower farm and one adjoin-

Today's Talk

HEROIC READINESS

Out of the troubles and passions of every dark time there invariably rises a better day. The world may carry its scars, but it learns to bear what caused them, and thus ennoble all heroic effort.

Enemies become friends — when understanding arrives. And always at such a time, the question is asked: "Why should enemies be at all?"

Throughout every period of travail heroic readiness is abroad. And it shows itself, so very often in those where you least expect to find it. Stevenson once wrote: "It is a commonplace that we cannot answer for ourselves before we have been tried."

Never has the entire world been put to the test that it is being put to at this present time. And that means that each of us is being put to the greatest sort of test, for not alone are we asked to be responsible for ourselves, but for countless others. The future history of the world will be written behind one word — cooperation.

The utility of mere material standards has been proven time and time again. The progress of the human race can be assured only along human lines, with the Golden Rule as its greatest law — and not the rule of gold.

The new armament must be the armament of the heart. Ideas alone must be competitive.

From the world's halls of learning, its public schools, its farms, and its work shops, must come the leaders who are to win the battles against anger, revenge, selfishness, inhumanity to man.

Some of us may never be called into the thick of the fray, but there isn't a man or woman among us who may not aspire to a heroic readiness!

Courage has to have nourishment. This troubled world needs the light of love, even far more than it needs the light of the electric lamp.

There will be something fine working around in the world if all the leaders of nations can ever meet one another in conciliatory and peaceful mood. It will harbor the end of "cold" wars, angry threats and cries of revenge.

TREES IN WINTER

Trees in winter seem to wear
White with such a gracious air
That I cannot truly know
Which is better, leaf or snow.Often in the spring I think
Trees in blossom, red and pink,
At their loveliest appear
Than at any time of year.Sometimes resting in the shade
Which a friendly tree has made
Very positive am I
Trees are friendliest in July.When in autumn I behold
Trees in scarlet dressed and gold
I am certain that in fall
Trees are loveliest of all.But in winter, since they wear
White with such a gracious air
I confess I do not know
Which is better, leaf or snow.Protected, 1963, by The George

DIRKSEN AND MUNDT TO GET SENATE POSTS

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Sen. Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota are going to get the prize Senate committee posts open to Republicans in the 88th Congress.

This was assured today as the GOP Senate Committee on Committees virtually completed its work. The group expects to meet Monday to make it official.

Meanwhile, on the Democratic side of the aisle, a row was developing in the wake of that party's committee assignments Thursday. Sen. Frank E. Moss of Utah charged he lost out on a chance for the Space Committee because of Southern irritation at his support for a tighter anti-filibuster rule.

The Democratic leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, sought to quiet his camp with a declaration that all Democrats were treated fairly by the party's Steering Committee.

TWO TOP SPOTS

Dirksen will take the Republican opening on the Finance Committee, which will handle President Kennedy's priority tax and health care for the elderly legislation.

Mundt has laid claim to the only GOP place open on Foreign Relations. This committee will review the whole range of American foreign policy in the next two years.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, chairman of the GOP Committee on Committees, said his group got to work as soon as the Democrats let Republicans know what the committee ratios would be. They were set by the Democratic Steering Committee.

COUSY FIRES 79-FOOT GOAL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics made his last game in Rhode Island as a professional basketball player a memorable one.

Cousy threw in a 79-foot field goal that the 5,395 fans at Providence probably will remember longer than they will the score of the Friday night game: Boston 123, Syracuse 114.

St. Louis beat Cincinnati 99-96 and New York went two overtimes to defeat Chicago 135-131 in the other National Basketball Association games.

The veteran Cousy, playing his last season in the NBA, was honored at halftime by the Holy Cross Club of Rhode Island. His long-distance goal came midway of the last quarter. Standing in front of the Syracuse bench he made a high throw intended for Bill Russell under the basket.

Instead the ball went through the hoop for a spectacular basket that brought an ovation. Cousy finished with 11 points.

Firemen Want Right To Make Own Choice On Rescue Truck: The Gettysburg Fire Department is in the market for a new rescue truck, and has made application, through the borough, for federal Civil Defense funds, for its purpose on a matching basis, but it still wants to make its own decisions on what kind of a truck it buys.

Informed Wednesday night that the matter could be expedited if the government made the purchase, the special rescue truck committee named by President William G. Weaver decided it would rather do the buying itself than take what the government sent it, even if, at best, it meant a delay and, at worst, the loss of federal aid.

The fire department's plan was to buy a truck chassis locally, after requesting bids and awarding the purchase to the low bidder, and then obtain the truck body from a firm which specializes in manufacturing this type of equipment.

Big Spring Outclasses Warriors 53-38; Scrubs Nipped In Opener 33-32

A sharp-shooting and deliberate Big Spring basketball team dominated play almost entirely as it crushed the Gettysburg High Warriors 53-38 before a near-capacity crowd in the final home game of the season Friday evening and definitely erased the Eckhart-men as Blue Mountain League contenders.

The Warriors led only twice briefly at 13-22 and 24-23 midway in the second quarter. Otherwise the Bulldogs dominated.

Dick Finkboner carried the load entirely for Gettysburg in the first half when he bagged 12 of the Warriors' points, the others being on a pair of free tosses in the first quarter by Bob Deitz who is still performing with his right hand heavily taped due to an injury.

Big Spring, first half champs, took a 10-6 lead in the first period as John Wyrick bagged a pair of goals and Stan North and Tom Phillips one each for the visitors. Finkboner hit for a goal and duo of fouls which, coupled with Deitz's pair, accounted for all of Gettysburg points.

Three straight goals by Bob Hoover on a variety of shots sent Big Spring to a 16-6 lead early in the second period and from then on Finkboner, with four fouls and two goals, gallantly attempted to keep the Warriors in contention. At half time the Bulldogs led 22-14.

FINALLY SET LEAD

Mike Flynn, a junior, entered the Gettysburg lineup at the start of the second half and became the first player other than Finkboner to land a goal on a pretty three-point play. Finkboner followed with a jump toss, Flynn dribbled under for a lay-up and Gary Nelson looped a jumper as Gettysburg went ahead for the first time at 23-22 after 3:25 of the period.

Eckman and Deitz matched free tosses at the 3:50 mark and then George Houck's squad moved ahead for keeps on a long shot by North and a three-pointer by Phillips. John Longanecker followed with a foul before Big Spring chalked up seven straight points for a 35-25 lead and thereafter the outcome was sealed.

In the last period Big Spring showed some fine shooting from outside and continued to dominate the boards on the rebounding of Bob Baker. Deitz swished eight of his points in the final round for Gettysburg.

The visitors showed a well-balanced attack while Finkboner, playing one of his best games, led all scorers with 16.

THRILLING FINISH

A lay-up by Day with four seconds left gave the Bulldogs reserves a 33-32 decision in the bitterly contested preliminary game. The Warrior jayvees, after yielding eight straight points at the start of the game, fought their way back to the lead and were on top 26-22 going into the final quarter. Rad Schultz collected 12 points to lead Gettysburg while Kann accounted for 15 for the winners.

Gettysburg will finish its season with games at Biglerville Tuesday and at Northern on Thursday.

WICHITA HOSTS CINCINNATI AT HOME TONIGHT

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Wichita's task tonight is just as difficult as it sounds. The Shockers are going to try to corner Cincinnati in the Roundhouse.

The Roundhouse is the nickname of the Wichita Field House, site of tonight's clash between up-beaten Cincinnati, the nation's top-ranked college basketball team, and the hopeful Shockers.

"We feel our chances of winning are good," Wichita coach Ralph Miller said. "Talent-wise this club doesn't overpower us. But we certainly will have to play our best ball game to win."

Cincinnati goes into the game with a 20-0 record this season, two straight NCAA championships under its belt and a 37-game winning string, which equals the third longest ever by a major college.

Wichita, however, snapped a Cincinnati string of 27 last season—the last time the Bearcats visited the Roundhouse—and Miller insists it can be done again.

The Shockers, 15-6 for the season, may be without the services of Wayne Miller, their No. 2 scorer. He's carrying a bruised shoulder and his status won't be determined until game time.

Cincinnati, led by Ron Bonham and Tom Thacker, whipped Wichita 63-50 in Cincinnati earlier this season, but the return match rates as the major stumbling block remaining on the Bearcats' regular season schedule.

U.S., CANADA PLACE 4 ACES AMONG TOP 10

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Canada and the United States last year were the only two nations to place two figure skaters among the top 10 in all four divisions of the world championships. But there was a difference.

Canada placed its two among the first five, the United States had its two among the second five.

The two countries still were competing on different levels here Friday night when the 1963 North American Figure Skating Championships got under way at the Pacific National Exhibition Forum.

A trio of talented Canadian girls placed 1-2-3 in ladies' singles and three Canadian couples finished 1-2-4 in compulsory ice dances.

CANADA FAVORED
The two-day meet winds up Saturday with Canada heavily favored to continue its domination.

Wendy Griner of Toronto, Canada's first lady of the ice, piled up a decisive advantage in school figures Friday and coasted to the title.

Miss Griner, 18, received 1,287.2 total points. Petra Burka, also of Canada, was second with 1,245.1. Third place went to Shirra Kenworthy of Vancouver with 1,242.9.

The best the Americans could to was a fourth-place finish by U.S. champion Lorraine Hanlon of Boston. Miss Hanlon had 1,187.2 points.

Karen Howland of Seattle placed fifth and Christine Haigler of Colorado Springs, Colo., was sixth.

The club said Friday Frank B. Meador, a New York sportsman, will promote the tournament for the benefit of the Montgomery County Association for physically handicapped children.

PGA headquarters in Dunedin, Fla., told Whitmarsh the contract for the tournament will be signed as soon as Meador posts surety bonds guaranteeing the prize money.

MISS THOMAS
But he wasn't particularly pleased. He missed his No. 1 rival, John Thomas, who beat him for the first time last week.

"It's too bad John was not here," he said. "We both would do better with the competition."

Thomas along with broad jumper Ralph Boston, competed in the San Francisco meet Friday night.

Ter-Ovanesyan wound up winning the broad jump with a so-so leap of 25-6 1/2.

Beatty, who led most of the way while a Madison Square Garden crowd of 15,176 yelled itself limp, was high in his praise of O'Hara.

"He deserves a great deal of credit," said the 28-year-old 5-6 insurance adjuster. "He has great heart and lacks only experience."

THREE IN CLASS
So now the indoor sub-four-minute mile club has three members—Beatty, O'Hara and East German Seigfried Hermann. Beatty's former indoor record was 3:53.9, set last year. Beatty's quarters were :59.9, 2:00.2 and 3:00.7.

Rolando Cruz of Villanova won the pole vault with a 16-feet, 11-inch leap in two weeks, and 272-pound Gary Gubner of New York University captured the shot put with a 63-4 1/2 heave. Bill Crothers was 11-10 in the shot put.

was 11-10 in the shot put.

Beatty, who led most of the way while a Madison Square Garden crowd of 15,176 yelled itself limp, was high in his praise of O'Hara.

"He deserves a great deal of credit," said the 28-year-old 5-6 insurance adjuster. "He has great heart and lacks only experience."

BUMP HADLEY DIES ON FRIDAY; 'TIT COCHRANE

LYNN, Mass. (AP)—Irving (Bump) Hadley—dogged by shadows like the errant pitch which ended the playing career of Hall of Fame catcher Mickey Cochrane—is dead.

A major league pitcher for 16 years, Hadley died Friday of a heart ailment in Lynn Hospital at the age of 59. He had been a resident of nearby Swampscott.

From 1925 through 1940, the 5-foot-11, 180-pound right-hander performed for Washington, St. Louis, Chicago, New York and Philadelphia in the American League and had a brief stint with the New York Giants of the National loop in 1941.

Hadley's lifetime mound record of 161-165 included a dark day in May of 1937 when he accidentally hit Detroit's Cochrane on the head with 3-2 pitch. Cochrane was near death for many days and when he recovered he became a nonplaying manager for the Tigers until he was fired in 1939.

WAS YANKEE SCOUT
Hadley had radio and television sports programs in the Boston area following his baseball career and also served as a scout for the Yankees.

It was as a New York pitcher in Yankee Stadium that Hadley hit Cochrane.

Hadley broke in with the Washington Senators in the last years of Walter Johnson. As a Senator in 1931, he led the American League in most appearances by a pitcher with 55.

"Baseball is a good life in the majors, regardless of where you are playing," Hadley said.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Hadley is survived by his widow, Jessica, a son, Irving L.,

Bees Need Care During Winter Months, Says Zettle

FRANK ZETTEL
County Farm Agent

Check your bees as soon as the weather permits. The very cold winter so far, after a short honey crop in many areas last fall, will find the bees weak or low on food.

Clean out the opening to see if there is sufficient food. A colony will need at least two frames of food in reserve at all times. Sugar syrup should be fed only when bees can fly or the outside temperature is near 50 degrees. Dry granulated sugar, although not as good as syrup, may be fed at any time.

Frank S. Zettle

Stimulating feeding is a big help in building a strong colony necessary to produce a crop of honey from the early nectar flows from tulip poplar and locust as well as for pollination. Start this feeding about six weeks before the bees are needed, or about the middle of March. Use a sugar syrup made up of two parts sugar to one part water by volume. Honey diluted with an equal amount of water may be used. Add 0.5 grams of sulfathiazole to each gallon of syrup to help prevent American foulbrood. Stop feeding sulfa when the first super is added to prevent the drug being stored in the honey.

All colonies should have six to eight frames of brood by early May.

Check colonies which may be dead. If the colony has died of disease there is a good possibility of spreading the disease through robbing. Either close the colony or carry it into a closed building. Clean and disinfect diseased equipment and destroy the combs. Have extra equipment ready, because early brood rearing and very early minor nectar flows will often cause the stronger colonies to become crowded and to swarm.

LAMBS REQUIRE CARE

The producer of early lambs has more problems than the sheepman who plans lambing season for warm weather. But, the selling price of early lambs usually justifies those extra problems, provided they can be solved. Bad luck during lambing season is all too often the result of poor management and lack of preparation.

Even though sheep can stand considerable cold, they still need a well-bedded barn, free from drafts and damp floors, when lambs are dropped during the winter. It is best to be on hand in person to insure a good lamb crop. Lambs may need help, or they may become chilled. You can't get a full night's sleep and expect to wean a big lamb crop.

Get newly-born lambs dry quickly and their stomachs full of milk. Put the lamb and its mother in a lambing pen, or claiming pen, made of two hurdles hinged together. There will be fewer disowned lambs, and the ewe can be fed more carefully. The ewe ought to get very little grain for the first two or three days.

When the lambs reach two weeks of age, give them access to a creep, where you can feed them a simple grain mixture until pasture is ready in the spring. Provide the creep with openings about eight to 10 inches wide. Place it in a sunny corner of the barn or shed. Give lambs all the grain they will eat and some choice hay that has been saved especially for them.

Conservationists Attend Meeting

Henry W. Mattox and Reginald Speir, soil conservationist and soil scientist, respectively, in Adams County, attended a four-day meeting of U. S. Soil Conservation Service employees in Pennsylvania at Lebanon Monday through Thursday. Subjects discussed by state and national conservation leaders ranged from soil and water conservation on the farm-lands to river basin development work in the Susquehanna, Delaware and Potomac River basins.

The conservation jobs in Pennsylvania was outlined by state conservationist Ivan McKeever, who directed the workshop. McKeever said that one of the big jobs in Pennsylvania is planning the multiple use of natural resources. Land and water must be used for many purposes to satisfy the increasing demands placed upon them by our modern society, he said.

The state conservationist said a major objective of the meeting was to emphasize ways the service can assist soil conservation districts with their increasing responsibilities in soil and water management, flood prevention and recreation.

There are 61 counties in the commonwealth organized as districts. Over 25,000 farmers are cooperating with these districts in their programs of soil and water, woodland and wildlife conservation.

the farm business to such an extent that a power failure may cause a crisis. Standby electric power units can provide a valuable source of emergency power. Factors which determine the need of a standby power source are: frequency of power failure, type of farm enterprise; the degree to which the farm is electrified and the nature of the electrical work performed.

Farmers who have a product of a perishable nature or who depend on continuous uninterrupted operation of equipment have the greatest need for standby power.

A power failure on the modern electrified dairy farm, where 30 or more cows are milked daily, creates a labor crisis, including the risk of losing milk valued at $40 to $50 a day.

The present-day standby unit is expensive to buy and operate. The cost of the emergency power can be expected to be three times that of normal power costs, so the value of the standby generator must be measured only in terms of insurance.

Generators can either be engine or tractor-driven, and the engine unit can be automatically or manually started. The use of a power "off" alarm is recommended for manual operation. Medium size tractors are capable of operating generators large enough to meet the critical needs on most farms.

To insure a complete disconnection from the power lines the power supplier will require a double - pole double - throw switch. Check with electric company for regulations before locating or installing wiring for a standby unit.

KENNEDY TO SEND SPECIAL AIDE ABROAD

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy plans to send a special negotiator to Europe in about 10 days for urgent talks with allied governments on creation of a NATO nuclear striking force.

The President made clear at a news conference Thursday that he thinks European members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are entitled to a greater voice in deciding the nuclear strategy of the West against the Soviet Union. But he emphasized that they must pay an increasing share of the total cost of Western defense.

Special negotiator Livingston T. Merchant, retired diplomat called back to duty for the nuclear mission, will go to Europe in about 10 days, Kennedy told newsmen.

ORGANIZE FORCE
As a result of policy discussions Kennedy is now holding, Merchant is expected to be able to tell allied leaders how the United States believes the nuclear force could be organized.

The most difficult problem, Kennedy said, involves deciding what man or men would decide in a sudden emergency whether nuclear weapons should be used.

Kennedy said the power might be given to the American president or the president of France or the British prime minister or someone else. What he hopes at the moment, he said, is that guidelines on this "life and death" issue can be laid down at an early stage so that the work of setting up the force can go forward. He hopes to have specific proposals worked out by the time foreign ministers of the 15-nation NATO council meet in May at Ottawa, Canada.

The issue lies at the heart of the split between most other allied leaders and French President Charles de Gaulle. He is determined to give France an independent nuclear force, perhaps coordinated with, but not controlled by any kind of NATO command.

Deactivated Spencer Air Force Base, five miles from Moultrie, Ga., will serve as a training base for minor league players owned by the Houston Colts this spring.

DENIES RESIGNATION

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Wallace Butts says he's still athletic director at the University of Georgia and he is not discussing the possibility of moving into the professional football field.

Butts was here Thursday for a physical examination.

Numerous reports have been circulated this week that Butts has resigned his position and will leave the university in June.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Ruth Donaldson, with a short meditation and prayer after which the secretary's and treasurer's reports were given.

Due to the absence of a number of members, no business was transacted.

The devotional readings were as follows: "Oh The Joy of Spring," Mrs. Donaldson; "An Old Country Church," Mrs. Ruth Deardorff; "An Old - Fashioned Sleigh Ride," Mrs. Rebert; "The Old Evangel Ever New" and "We Can't Ask God For?" Mrs. Mary Tressler.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer in unison. The box donated by Mrs. Deardorff was won by Miss Melhorn. A social hour with refreshments followed the meeting.

MEDICS STOP EPIDEMIC, AID IMAGE ABROAD

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just before Christmas, the terror of a polio epidemic struck British Guiana. Its anti-Yankee government called for help, and got it from the United States.

The Air Force rushed in doctors from the U.S. Public Health Service and Baylor University, plus 200,000 doses of vaccine, iron lungs and other equipment.

As specialists from Baylor treated the victims, the Health Service's team of four medics set to work to stop the epidemic by immunizing 100,000 children in the South American colony of 600,000 persons.

Within a month, there were dramatic results. Dr. Henry M. Gelfand, head of the Health Service team, reports that hospital admissions hit a peak of 83 new cases in the week ended Jan. 5. But last week only nine new cases were reported.

NEARS COMPLETION

Today the mission is almost completed. The Health Service team has returned to its base at the Atlanta, Ga., Communicable Disease Center. Three members of the Baylor group are due home today. Two others are staying behind.

American officials believe the group scored a double success — not only stamping out the epidemic but also cauterizing the anti-American sentiments of Guiana's left-leaning premier, Cheddi Jagan.

The U.S. Agency for International Development which sponsored the mercy mission figures its costs to the taxpayers will run between $40,000 and $50,000. Baylor donated its help

Alps Tough On Actors—Realism Stressed

Knifelike fissure 16 feet wide and 85 feet down was actual site of "rescue" in "Banner in the Sky." Coming over the top is Michael Rennie (left). James MacArthur is at right. Two-part epic will be shown February 17 and 24 on NBC.

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

PERILOUS LIFE

Well call me Mohamet! Walt Disney is bringing us a real mountain — The Matterhorn — especially tailored to fit our home screens in "Banner in the Sky," in full color of course (for those sets that can take it) this week and next (February 17 and 24) in Wonderful World of Color (7:30 p.m., EST, NBC-TV).

To recreate the first conquest of the Matterhorn in 1865 by a Swiss party led by an Englishman, Disneyites took over the actual town of Zermatt (and somewhat made it over in the process), taught expensive actors mountain-climbing and even risked their expensive necks in shots we had been brought up to believe should be done by doubles.

So, when you see Michael Rennie hanging on for dear life, that's exactly what he's doing.

Rennie, who ducks bullets and knives as he weekly outwits treacherous acquaintances in his intrigue-laden "Third Man" series, really lived perilously for this one. I was pretty startled to hear that a star of his calibre was permitted to take such extraordinary risks as inching along a mile-high ice lodge without safety ropes—and, to make it even worse, in the cumbersome garb of a hundred years ago.

Nor was it any easier for the other stars. Pretty little Janet Munro, who plays a Swiss miss, dangled upside down over a 3,000-foot drop held only by a triple rope tied to a tree stump... no trick photography there. James MacArthur (the only American in the international cast) like Rennie also cast off the safety lines.

Nobody, even the crews, were exempt from climbing. Actor James Donald escaped with minor injuries when he fell 18 feet off a crag after a perilous climbing scene with Michael Rennie and Herbert Lom. Assistant cameraman Pierre Tairraz wasn't quite so lucky. After a tumble into a crevasse, he was pulled out with three broken ribs. (I forgot to ask how much insurance the company had to buy to cover this sort of derring-do.)

SEPARATE MOVIE AND TV VERSIONS

Disney himself is so taken by this story of the beautiful but terrifying mountain — and the courage of its conquerors — that he wanted to release it for both theater and television audiences but because of the varying demands of the mediums had to shoot two different versions, with television the more demanding of the two arts (TV needs more closeups and shots in general have to be "tighter" to come across effectively).

James Ullman, the author, who is also a noted climber, stayed with the company in Zermatt. Of his many books on mountains and the men who climb them "because they're there" some are biographical, some autobiographical but for "Banner in the Sky" he chose to tell his story first in novel form.

ONLY THE NAMES ARE DIFFERENT

So, in one of the most intriguing "twists" in film history we have a story of a fictional Englishman called "Captain Winter" (Rennie) and a Swiss youth called "Rudi" (MacArthur), two heroic survivors of the tragedy-marred first successful ascent of a fictional mountain called "The Citadel" in 1865.

Now, by somewhat strange coincidence, an Englishman named Captain Edward Whymper led such a party to the top of the Matterhorn from Zermatt in 1865 and a Swiss youth from the town was one of the survivors.

By a further interesting coincidence, Whymper's daughter and granddaughter were also in Zermatt during the filming and had a marked influence on Rennie's portrayal. Mountains have remained a family passion unto the third generation, the granddaughter being rated as an excellent climber. The two women had frequent talks with Rennie and put old family pictures and documents at his disposal.

And of course we'll see the real Matterhorn representing the fictional "Citadel" which represented the real Matterhorn in the first place?

LIKE DISNEYLAND?

Zermatt, the scene of the shooting, you might say, turned into quite a magnet for notables during the three months the film company was on location. The President of Switzerland and his wife dropped by; and America's "First Lady of the Theater," Helen Hayes, dropped by to visit her son, James MacArthur, and for the fun of it also got in the act. If you look fast, you'll see her stroll by as an extra — sort of a la Alfred Hitchcock.

The town in fact, isn't quite the same any more. It's still reachable only by horse-drawn vehicles; some of the people are still living in sturdy little cottages built 500 years ago, but something new has been added.

One little narrow, winding avenue characterized at first sight by a crew member as "just like out of 'The Seven Dwarfs' only dingier" was treated to much

THE OTHER CAROLINE

It is said that Mrs. John Fitzgerald Kennedy named her daughter Caroline because a friend had named her daughter that and it "was such a pretty name." Both the "friend," Princess Grace of Monaco, and the "daughter," little Princess Caroline of Monaco, will be seen in the full-color Sunday special (February 17) on CBS titled "A Look at Monaco".

Her Serene Highness, former American film star, Grace Kelly, will serve as guide through the palace, an orphanage and school for working mothers and the palace courtyard where the cameras catch the changing of the guard.

Prince Rainier will join in for a tour through the private galleries and Jacques-Yves Cousteau will take over to describe the famed Oceanographic Museum of Monaco.

Commandant Cousteau, who serves as director of the museum, is one of the world's most distinguished scientist-explorers, and was co-inventor of the Aqualung.

He has turned the museum into what is called a "veritable United Nations of marine research." Scientists from all over the world are now at work in its laboratories. One of its projects is done in close association with the International Atomic Agency to determine the effect of fallout on sea life, as well as the disposal of atomic waste and numerous related problems.

The filmed tour is to close on a blithe note — a tour of the zoo by Princess Caroline and her little brother.

1964 OLYMPIC TV PLANS FIRMED

Exclusive rights to televise next year's winter Olympic Games from Innsbruck, Austria, January 29 through February 9 have been obtained by ABC-TV. Basic plans call for jet-flying the films daily from Innsbruck to New York for telecasting, and also "every effort will be made to bring some portion of the events to the United States live via Telstar or Relay."

THREE NEW DAYTIMERS SET FOR 'KIAL

April 1 is debut day for three new daytime shows on NBC-TV one a "medical" drama, the second a "legal background" drama and the third an audience-participation show originating from California.

fresh paint and plaster by the Disneyites — and now the townsfolk have actually renamed their ancient byway "Seven Dwarfs Street."

But that was only the beginning. Every village needs a square. Right? Well Zermatt didn't have one. Production Designer John Howell saw possibilities in a disused, decaying "corner" of the village, repaired the broken masonry, added flagstone to courtyards, glass to windows, window boxes to windows, paint over all and for a final flourish — a fountain in the courtyard. A grateful Zermatt rose to the occasion again. This is a permanent installation for their own use and they've renamed it "Disney Park."

The wildflowers dotting nearby meadows through which romantic leads Munro and MacArthur gambol, however, I am assured received no help from Hollywood.

LURE OF CLIMBING

The Matterhorn, at 15,000 feet, is not the highest mountain in Switzerland but has a powerful attraction still for climbers because of its beauty, treachery and instantaneous changes in weather. Did any of "Banner's" actors turn into lifetime mountain buffs? MacArthur on his own has actually huffed his way to the peak. Rennie, though not "mountain-minded" before, has done some recent climbing. But it seems—and no offense to the Alps—his favorite sport is still bull fighting.
